STATEMENT OF ISSUES TO BE DECIDED

Pursuant to the Local Rules of Practice in Civil Proceedings before the United States District Court for the Northern District of California, Rule 7-4(a)(3), Plaintiffs ask the Court to rule on the following issues:

1. Whether the proposed Settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable;
  2. Whether the proposed Settlement Class should be certified for settlement purposes;
  3. Whether Dwoskin Wasdin LLP should be appointed as Class Counsel and Plaintiffs Gooiker and Finley as Class Representatives; and
  4. Whether to enter the proposed order granting preliminary approval of the proposed Settlement, setting forth remaining deadlines and setting a hearing for final approval of the proposed Settlement.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Patricia Gooiker and William Finley (“Plaintiffs”) have reached a Rule 23(b)(2) class settlement with Mindvalley, Inc. (“Mindvalley” or “Defendant”) that requires Mindvalley to (a) remove the online tracking technology at issue in this case, the Meta Pixel, from the logged-in portion of Mindvalley’s platform, www.home.mindvalley.com; and (b) disable the Meta Pixel on the logged-out portions of Mindvalley’s platform, www.mindvalley.com, unless and until a user decides to enable the Meta Pixel and provides affirmative consent in a manner that complies with the strict requirements of the Video Privacy Protection Act, 18 U.S.C. § 2710 (“VPPA”). After hotly contested litigation, this resolution provides certain and timely relief for the Class without the risks or delays associated with continued litigation and addresses the lawsuit’s core allegation that Mindvalley discloses, via the Meta Pixel, “information which identifies a person as having requested or obtained specific video materials or services” without informed consent and opt-out rights—a practice that continues to this day but will be remedied by the settlement agreement here.<sup>1</sup>

Plaintiffs respectfully request entry of the proposed Preliminary Approval Order, attached as Exhibit 1 to the Settlement Agreement. The Preliminary Approval Order will: (i) preliminarily approve the proposed Settlement and Settlement Agreement (“Settlement Agreement” or “Settlement”); (ii) certify, pursuant to Rule 23(b)(2), an injunction-only class for settlement purposes; (iii) appoint Plaintiffs as settlement class representatives; (iv) appoint settlement class counsel; and (iv) set a final approval briefing schedule and schedule a final fairness hearing before the Court.

The proposed Settlement provides for an injunction providing the full prospective relief sought by Plaintiffs. The relief is not just “window dressing” for subscribers; Defendant has agreed to structural changes to its websites that will (a) entirely remove the technology at issue from the

1 logged-in portion of its platform; and (b) disable the technology on the logged-out portion of its 2 platform unless and until a user decides to enable it through an informed and affirmative consent 3 process that complies with the strict requirements of the VPPA. And while the Plaintiffs are 4 personally releasing any and all money damage claims, no other class members are. The release 5 provided by class members is narrowly limited to claims for injunctive relief related to the specific 6 technology at issue that arose prior to the effective date of the Settlement Agreement. Thus, the 7 class release carefully matches the class relief.

8 The proposed Settlement was fully informed by discovery (obtained from Defendant and 9 from the third-party provider of the technology at issue, Meta Platforms, Inc. (f/k/a Facebook)) 10 (“Meta”). The proposed Settlement is also not the product of collusion: as noted below and in the 11 Dwoskin Declaration, there is no clear sailing (Defendant has the right to be heard on any fee 12 application, including the right to oppose) and the Plaintiffs were not informed of the amount of 13 the proposed Service Awards until after they considered and approved the other terms of the 14 Settlement. See Dwoskin Decl. ¶ 17.

15 The Settlement was reached after extensive motion practice and discovery and following 16 arms-length negotiations facilitated by an experienced and well-respected mediator, the Honorable 17 Ellen James, Esq. of JAMS, over multiple mediation sessions. It represents a well-informed 18 agreement, built on expert analysis. The resolution provides an important, certain and timely 19 outcome for the Class while avoiding additional risks and delays of continued litigation. Because 20 this is an injunctive-relief-only settlement under Rule 23(b)(2), and the settlement thus preserves 21 class members’ right to pursue monetary relief, class members do not have a right to opt out and 22 notice to the class is unnecessary.

23 Accordingly, the proposed Settlement is fair, adequate and reasonable, such that the 24 Proposed Preliminary Approval Order should be entered, and a Final Fairness Hearing scheduled 25 to finally approve the proposed Settlement.

II. FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

A. Plaintiffs Filed this Action to Address Defendant’s Privacy Violations via the Meta Pixel, and Plaintiffs Prevailed Against Defendant’s Attempt to Dismiss the Case

In 2024, Plaintiffs' counsel began investigating and rigorously pursuing alleged privacy violations against videotape service providers, like Defendant, for their use of an online tracking technology referred to as the Meta Pixel. As described in the First Amended Complaint ("FAC"), Mindvalley is essentially a wellness platform that offers video courses on mental health and personal and professional development. The Meta Pixel is a piece of code that Defendant integrated into its platform for analytics and marketing purposes that causes data regarding Mindvalley users' interactions with the platform to be transferred to third-party Meta. That data includes information identifying the video content the user requests or obtains on the platform, alongside a unique individual identifier.

In February 2024, this litigation was commenced in the Northern District of California, and Plaintiffs later filed the operative FAC, asserting one count of violation of the VPPA, and seeking injunctive relief to put an end to Defendant’s practice of disclosing Mindvalley subscribers’ video request and viewing history to Meta and statutory damages. See FAC, Prayer for Relief, ECF No. 24. See also id. ¶¶ 8-9. The parties engaged in robust motions practice (including a motion to dismiss, a request for judicial notice, a motion to bifurcate and stay class discovery, and various discovery disputes), negotiated a protective order and ESI protocol, and exchanged relevant discovery. ECFs 28, 29, 37, 47, 53, 61, 76; Dwoskin Decl. ¶¶ 7-10; Ex. A, at WHEREAS clauses. Plaintiffs also sought and obtained discovery from non-party Meta, which confirmed the allegations in the FAC, and retained a consulting expert to forensically examine Mindvalley’s platform. Id. Thus, the parties have been vigorously litigating this case on three different fronts: (1) dispositive motion practice regarding the viability of the claims at issue; (2) engaging in party, third-party and expert discovery over the merits of the claim alleged in the FAC; and (3) preparation for class certification proceedings.

1 Plaintiffs learned in discovery that, although Mindvalley is a Delaware corporation with its 2 principal place of business in Palo Alto, California, its owners and operators are based in foreign 3 countries, including in Malaysia. Dwoskin Decl. ¶¶ 12-13. When the parties began discussing a 4 potential resolution in this case, Mindvalley’s counsel informed Plaintiffs’ counsel that Mindvalley 5 did not have the financial ability to pay any meaningful class-wide damages. Dwoskin Decl. ¶ 14.
 6 See also Ex. A, at WHEREAS clause (“counsel for Mindvalley informed counsel for the 7 Representative Plaintiffs that Mindvalley lacks the financial resources to fund a damages 8 settlement in this case at the per-person amounts included in other public settlements in cases 9 asserting claims under the VPPA”). Mindvalley’s financial inability to pay class-wide damages in 10 any meaningful amount precluded the possibility of a settlement that would include a release of 11 Class members’ individual damages claims.

12 Given the private and sensitive nature of the video content on Mindvalley’s platform 13 (essentially, individual wellbeing and personal development videos), and Mindvalley’s ongoing 14 use of the technology at issue (and, thus, ongoing disclosure of its users’ video request and viewing 15 histories to Meta), it was critical to investigate the possibility of achieving immediate injunctive 16 relief for the class that included disabling the technology at issue. Thus, rather than spend 17 additional months—and potentially years—in litigation against a Malaysian-based entity with an 18 inability to satisfy a damages judgment, which could also involve appeals, the Parties began 19 discussing a potential resolution that provided near-term injunctive relief for the Class. Dwoskin 20 Decl. ¶¶ 21-25.

21 Plaintiffs and Mindvalley negotiated the contours of such a resolution over an 22 approximately forty-five day period between December 2024 and February 2025, during which 23 time the parties participated in two separate mediation sessions with Judge James as part of the 24 Court’s ADR program. On January 22, 2025, the parties participated in a four-hour mediation 25 before Judge James, but were unable to reach an agreement that day. Id. ¶ 11. The parties continued 26 negotiating the potential resolution outside of mediation, and reconvened for a second mediation 27 session with Judge James on January 31, 2025, at which the parties reached agreement on the 28

1 essential contours of the resolution and after which the parties successfully reached a final 2 agreement and formalized the settlement terms. Id.; see also Ex. A.

3 III. THE RULE 23(B)(2) SETTLEMENT

4 A. The Injunctive Relief Addresses the Claims in the Complaint

5 The Settlement provides injunctive relief directly addressing the claims raised in the FAC:
 6 it stops the VPPA violations involving the Meta Pixel at issue in the FAC. Ex. A, § 2.1. Overall, 7 the injunctive relief obtained is well-tailored to the claims in the FAC and represents an important 8 victory for the Class.

9 B. The Proposed Settlement Class

10 Plaintiffs seek approval of the following proposed Settlement Class:

11 All persons in the United States who: (1) currently have or previously had a 12 Mindvalley account at any point in time prior to the Effective Date; and (2) 13 requested or viewed videos on either of the Mindvalley Websites at any point in time prior to the Effective Date.

14 C. The Class Release is Narrowly Limited to the Injunctive Relief Claims

15 Although Defendant denies Plaintiffs' allegations, Defendant agrees to the following 16 Stipulated Injunction to resolve the action. Pursuant to the Settlement:

17 For a period of two years following the Effective Date, Mindvalley agrees to disable the 18 operation of the Meta Pixel on or for any and all webpages on the home.mindvalley.com 19 domain that host video content or offer video content for purchase by users in the United States.

20 For a period of two years following the Effective Date, Mindvalley agrees that, for any and 21 all individual users in the United States, Mindvalley will not use the Meta Pixel on any 22 webpage on the www.mindvalley.com domain unless and until the individual user provides 23 affirmative consent by clicking "Accept All Cookies," or by clicking "Manage Settings" and thereafter selecting the option to enable tracking cookies, on a pop-up banner meeting substantially . . . the [] criteria [set forth in the Settlement Agreement].

24 Ex. A § 2.1.

25 The release provided by the class is narrow. The Settlement resolves and releases claims 26 for injunctive relief only that arose prior to the Effective Date of the Settlement Agreement related 27 to the operation of the Meta Pixel on Mindvalley's Websites. Ex. A § 5.2. The release does not 28 prevent the Class from pursuing: (a) claims for damages or monetary relief, including any such

1 claims related to the operation of the Meta Pixel on any and all webpages on Mindvalley's 2 Websites; or (b) injunctive relief claims arising after the Effective Date of the agreement, including 3 any such claims arising out of tracking technologies on Mindvalley's Websites after the Effective 4 Date. See id.

5 In addition to the Class release, a separate, individual release exists between Plaintiffs and 6 Defendant in the Settlement. Under this provision, Plaintiffs release Defendant and its related 7 parties from all claims, including damages claims, that directly relate to or arise from the Litigation.
 8 Id. § 5.1. This individual release by Plaintiffs does not extend to the Class. Id.

9 D. The Service Award Recognizes Plaintiffs' Significant Contribution and 10 Reasonable Attorneys Fees and Costs Reflect the Extensive Efforts and Results
 11 Achieved

12 Proposed Settlement Class Counsel respectfully request that the Court appoint them as 13 Settlement Class Counsel and appoint the Plaintiffs as Settlement Class Representatives. Under 14 the terms of the Settlement, Class Counsel are permitted to petition this Court for an Order 15 awarding them (i) attorneys' fees, and (ii) reimbursement of reasonable litigation expenses, so long 16 as they are not in excess of the caps set in the Settlement Agreement, Ex. A §§ 6.1-6.2. There is 17 no clear sailing, and Defendant retains the right to respond to (or even oppose) such petition.
 18 Proposed Settlement Class Counsel will also seek $5,000 for each of the two Plaintiffs, which 19 amount, for each Plaintiff, represents (i) $2,500 in exchange for their full releases of all money 20 damages claims, and (ii) $2,500 as a Service Award in recognition for their contributions to the 21 case. Id. § 6.2.a. As noted above, the Plaintiffs agreed to the terms of this Settlement prior to being 22 informed that their attorneys would seek this amount, to avoid even the appearance of collusion.
 23 Dwoskin Decl. ¶ 17.

24 "In a certified class action, the court may award reasonable attorney's fees and nontaxable 25 costs that are authorized by law or by the parties' agreement." Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(h). To the extent 26 approved by the Court, Plaintiffs may request up to $450,000 for attorneys' fees and costs. See Ex.
 27 A § 6.2.b. Settlement Class Counsel will provide further detail and explanation regarding the fees 28

1 sought in their motion for final approval and petition for reimbursement of fees and expenses on a 2 schedule set by the Court.

3 IV. NOTICE TO THE CLASS IS NOT REQUIRED BECAUSE THE SETTLEMENT IS 4 FOR INJUNCTIVE RELIEF ONLY

5 Numerous federal courts within California have held that “[w]hen a class is certified under 6 Rule 23(b)(2) and only provides for injunctive relief, no notice is required.” Grant v. Capital Mgmt.
 7 Servs., L.P., 2013 WL 6499698, at *6 (S.D. Cal. Dec. 11, 2013) (citing to Kim v. Space Pencil, 8 Inc., 2012 WL 5948951, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 28, 2012)); Kline v. Dymatize Enters., LLC, 2016
 9 WL 6026330, at *6 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 13, 2016) (same); Stathakos v. Columbia Sportswear Co., 2018 10 WL 582564, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 25, 2018) (collecting cases) (“In injunctive relief only class 11 actions certified under Rule 23(b)(2), federal courts across the country have uniformly held that 12 notice is not required”); Moore v. GlaxoSmithKline Consumer Healthcare Holdings (US) LLC, 13 2024 WL 4868182, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 3, 2024) (after “carefully consider[ing] the issue of class 14 notice in this Rule 23(b)(2) settlement . . . the Court exercises its discretion and determines that 15 class notice is not necessary.”). Although Rule 23(c)(2) provides that “[f]or any class certified 16 under Rule 23(b)(1) or (b)(2), the court may direct appropriate notice to the class,” courts 17 “typically require less notice in Rule 23(b)(2) actions, as their outcomes do not truly bind class 18 members” who also lack the right to opt out. Lilly v. Jamba Juice Co., 2015 WL 1248027, at *8-9 19 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 18, 2015) (holding that because an injunctive relief settlement class lacks the legal 20 right to opt out, class notice is unnecessary where, as here, the settlement does not release monetary 21 claims)); see also Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Dukes, 131 S. Ct. 2541, 2558 (2011) (Rule 23 “provides 22 no opportunity for (b)(1) or (b)(2) class members to opt out, and does not even oblige the District 23 Court to afford them notice of the action.”).

24 Courts across the country likewise hold that no notice is required for an injunctive-relief 25 only class that does not release monetary claims of class members. See, e.g., Jermyn v. Best Buy 26 Stores, 2012 WL 2505644, at *12 (S.D.N.Y. June 27, 2012) (“Because this injunctive settlement 27 specifically preserves and does not release the class members’ monetary claims, notice to the class 28 members is not required.”); Green v. Am. Express Co., 200 F.R.D. 211, 212-13 (S.D.N.Y. 2001)

1 (no notice is required under several circumstances, such as “when the settlement provides for only 2 injunctive relief, and therefore, there is no potential for the named plaintiffs to benefit at the 3 expense of the rest of the class”); Penland v. Warren Cnty. Jail, 797 F.2d 332, 334 (6th Cir. 1986)
 4 (“[T]his court has specifically held that notice to class members is not required in all F.R.C.P.
 5 23(b)(2) class actions”); DL v. District of Columbia, 2013 WL 6913117, at *11 (D.D.C. Nov. 8, 6 2013) (“[T]he district courts within these circuits that have directly considered the issue have 7 applied the requirement ‘more flexibly in situations where individual notice to class members is 8 not required, such as suits for equitable relief’”); Linquist v. Bowen, 633 F. Supp. 846, 862 (W.D.
 9 Mo. Jan 31, 1986) (“When a class is certified pursuant to Rule 23(b)(2), Federal Rules of Civil 10 Procedure, notice to the class members is not required.”) (internal citations omitted); *Mamula v.
 11 Satralloy, Inc.*, 578 F. Supp. 563, 572 (S.D. Ohio Sept. 7, 1983) (“This Court has certified this 12 action as a class action under Rule 23(b)(2), and, as such, notice to class members is not required 13 under Rule 23(c)(2).”); Lemon v. Int'l Union of Operating Engineers, Local No. 139, AFL-CIO, 14 216 F.3d 577, 580 (7th Cir. 2000) (“Rule 23(b)(2) certification does not ensure personal notice or 15 opportunity to opt out even if some or all the plaintiffs pray for monetary damages.”).

16 This Court may follow the same approach here because the Settlement provides injunctive 17 relief while fully preserving Class members’ rights to pursue monetary claims. See Ex. A § 5.2. In 18 exercising its discretion, the Court should also consider whether “the cost of notice would risk 19 eviscerating the settlement agreement.” Green, 200 F.R.D. at 212 (“[C]ourts have recognized that 20 when notice to class members would not serve the purpose of ensuring that the settlement is fair 21 and would, in fact jeopardize the settlement, that the court may opt to forego notice.”). Here, the 22 parties agree notice is unnecessary under the law and could lead to the unraveling of the carefully 23 negotiated Settlement and deprive the Class of the benefits it provides. See Ex. A, §§ 7.2-7.4.
 24 Because the Class would have no right to opt out of the injunctive relief, and their monetary claims 25 are preserved, the Court therefore need not direct notice here. See Lilly, 2015 WL 1248027, at *9.<sup>2</sup>

 28<sup>2</sup> Although notice to the Class is not required, the Class Action Fairness Act (“CAFA”) requires that notice be given to state and federal authorities. 28 U.S.C. § 1715. CAFA provides that “no

V. THE PRELIMINARY APPROVAL STANDARD IS SATISFIED

Public policy strongly favors settlement as a method to resolve litigation. See Utility Reform Project v. Bonneville Power Admin., 869 F.2d 437, 443 (9th Cir. 1989). This is especially true in complex class actions like this one, where “substantial resources can be conserved by avoiding the time, cost, and rigors of formal litigation.” Fontes v. Heritage Operating, L.P., 2016 WL 1465158, at *3 (S.D. Cal. Apr. 14, 2016) (citation omitted); see also In re Synoc ERISA Litig., 516 F.3d 1095, 1101 (9th Cir. 2008) (Public policy “strong[ly] . . . favors settlements, particularly where complex class action litigation is concerned.”); Franklin v. Kaypro Corp., 884 F.2d 1222, 1229 (9th Cir. 1989) (“[O]verriding public interest in settling and quieting litigation” is “particularly true in class action suits.” (internal quotations omitted)).

A. The Settlement Class Should Be Preliminarily Certified

The Settlement Class satisfies the requirements of Rule 23(a) and (b)(2). The Rule 23(a) requirements are numerosity, commonality, typicality and adequacy. Rule 23(b)(2) requires a plaintiff to establish that the defendant “acted or refused to act on grounds that apply generally to the class, so that final injunctive relief or corresponding declaratory relief is appropriate respecting the class as a whole.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(2).

Rule 23(e) requires Court approval before the claims, issues, or defenses of a class proposed to be certified can be settled, voluntarily dismissed, or compromised. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e). The purpose of this rule “is to protect the unnamed members of the class from unjust or unfair settlements affecting their rights.” In re Synoc., 516 F.3d at 1100. Accordingly, if a settlement is “fundamentally fair, adequate, and reasonable,” it must be approved. In re Heritage Bond Litig., 546 F.3d 667, 674-675 (9th Cir. 2008); see also In re Wireless Facilities, Inc. Secs. Litig. II, 253 F.R.D. 607, 610 (S.D. Cal. 2008) (“Settlements that follow sufficient discovery and genuine arms-length negotiation are presumed fair.”).

later than ten days after a proposed settlement of a class is filed in court, each defendant shall serve upon the appropriate state official of each state in which a class member resides a notice of the proposed settlement and specified supporting documentation.” Id. § 1715(b). Pursuant to CAFA, Defendant will serve CAFA notice within ten days after this motion is filed.

B. The Settlement Class Satisfies the Requirements of Rule 23(a)

Numerosity is generally satisfied when a class has at least 40 members. Celano v. Marriott Int'l Inc., 242 F.R.D. 544, 548-49 (N.D. Cal. 2007). The proposed Settlement Class satisfies the numerosity requirement. The Settlement Class consists of “all persons in the United States who: (1) currently have or previously had a Mindvalley account at any point in time prior to the Effective Date; and (2) requested or viewed videos on either of the Mindvalley Websites at any point in time prior to the Effective Date” a class of, at a minimum, thousands of consumers. Dwoskin Decl. ¶ 16.

The Settlement Class also satisfies the commonality requirement, which requires that class members' claims "depend upon a common contention," of such a nature that "determination of its truth or falsity will resolve an issue that is central to the validity of each [claim] in one stroke." Dukes, 131 S. Ct. at 2545. Common questions include:

1. whether Defendant disclosed Class members' video request and viewing histories to Meta; and
  2. whether the information Defendant disclosed to Meta constitutes personally identifiable information under the VPPA.

Here, the determination of the above common questions “will resolve an issue that is central to the validity of each [claim] in one stroke” as to the claims of all Settlement Class members. Id.

In the context of Rule 23(b)(2), commonality is found when policies and practices apply to the class as a whole. See Gray v. Golden Gate Nat'l Rec. Area, 279 F.R.D. 501, 520 (N.D. Cal. 2011); Parsons v. Ryan, 754 F.3d 657, 683 (9th Cir. 2014) (same). See also Martinez v. Blu Prod., Inc., 2019 WL 12838199, at *3 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 3, 2019) (common questions included whether the defendant's captured consumer's private information and whether it "violate[s] the law in the manners Plaintiffs identify"); Rodriguez v. Google LLC, 2024 WL 38302, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 3, 2024) (legality of defendant's collection of app data was a common issue). That criterion is easily met here. Mindvalley employed the Meta Pixel on its websites, and that technology was automatically enabled each time a user visited the website and functioned similarly for each user. In particular, each time a user visited a Mindvalley webpage containing video content, the Meta

1 Pixel disclosed information to Meta including, among other things: (1) a unique identifier Meta 2 could use to identify the individual user; and (2) data describing the video content that was 3 requested or obtained (including e.g., the URL of the webpage visited). In that way, Mindvalley's 4 practice with respect to using the Meta Pixel applied the same way to all of its users.

5 Typicality is satisfied if “the claims or defenses of the representative parties are typical of 6 the claims or defenses of the class.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(3). Plaintiffs’ claims are typical of the 7 claims of Settlement Class members because they stem from the same alleged conduct—i.e., the 8 disclosure of their PII to Meta via the Meta Pixel—and seek relief under the same legal theory.
 9 Hodges v. Akeena Solar, Inc., 274 F.R.D. 259, 267 (N.D. Cal. 2011) (claims are “reasonably co-10 extensive” because all “arise[] from the same course of events, and each class member makes 11 similar legal arguments to prove the defendant’s liability.”); In re Static Random Access Memory
 12 Antitrust Litig., 264 F.R.D. 603, 609 (N.D. Cal. 2009) (typicality found in 23(b)(2) certification); 13 I.B. v. Facebook, Inc., 82 F. Supp. 3d 1115, 1129 (N.D. Cal. 2015) (typicality found in 23(b)(2) 14 injunctive relief).

15 Finally, the adequacy requirement is satisfied when the class representatives will “fairly 16 and adequately protect the interests of the class.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(4). To make this 17 determination, “courts must resolve two questions: ‘(1) do the named plaintiffs and their counsel 18 have any conflicts of interest with other class members and (2) will the named plaintiffs and their 19 counsel prosecute the action vigorously on behalf of the class?’” Ellis v. Costco Wholesale Corp., 20 657 F.3d 970, 985 (9th Cir. 2011) (citation omitted). Plaintiffs and their counsel have no conflicts 21 of interest with any Settlement Class Members and have vigorously prosecuted the case on behalf 22 of the class, through dispositive motion briefing, discovery, and nearly two months of settlement 23 negotiations (including multiple mediation sessions). Moreover, Class Counsel is eminently 24 qualified and has a long history and experience with prosecuting class actions, including those 25 involving data privacy. See Dwoskin Decl. ¶ 26 (CVs and Firm Resumes of Class Counsel and co-26 counsel).

C. The Settlement Class Satisfies the Requirements of Rule 23(b)(2)

This Settlement Class seeks to be certified under Rule 23(b)(2). To certify a Rule 23(b)(2) class, the Defendant must have “acted or refused to act on grounds that apply generally to the class, so that final injunctive relief or corresponding declaratory relief is appropriate respecting the class as a whole.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(2).

Unlike Rule 23(b)(3), Plaintiffs do not need to show predominance of common issues or superiority of class adjudication, but only that there is a cohesiveness of class claims. Walters v. Reno, 145 F.3d 1032, 1047 (9th Cir. 1998). To certify a class under Rule 23(b)(2), it is generally sufficient “that class members complain of a pattern or practice that is generally applicable to the class as a whole.” Rodriguez v. Hayes, 591 F.3d 1105, 1125 (9th Cir. 2010). “The key to [a Rule 23(b)(2)] class is . . . the notion that the conduct is such that it can be enjoined or declared unlawful only as to all of the class members or as to none of them.” Dukes, 131 S. Ct. at 2557 (internal quotation marks omitted).

Here, Plaintiffs allege that Defendant is “act[ing] or refus[ing] to act on grounds that apply generally to the class.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(2). The claims of each member of the proposed class all relate to one specific practice of disclosing their video request and viewing histories to Meta via the Meta Pixel. The same issues of law pertain to each class member and the same injunctive relief is appropriate with respect to all class members. Accordingly, this Settlement Class should be certified under Rule 23(b)(2).

D. The Settlement Meets the Northern District of California's Procedural Guidelines

This District's Procedural Guidance for Class Action Settlements identifies seven topics about the settlement itself that should be addressed in this Motion, only four of which are applicable to a Rule 23(b)(2) settlement.<sup>3</sup> Plaintiffs address those topics herein.

1       Regarding the first topic, differences in class definition and explanation thereof, the 2 operative complaint defines the class as “During the fullest period allowed by law, all persons in 3 the United States who: (1) have a Facebook account; (2) have a Mindvalley account; and (3) 4 requested or viewed videos on mindvalley.com.” FAC ¶ 78. The proposed Settlement Class 5 definition is not limited to Facebook accountholders and includes those who previously had a 6 Mindvalley account. See Ex. A., § 1.22. While the definition of the Settlement Class is broader 7 than the definition of the proposed class in the operative complaint, that is appropriate under the 8 circumstances. First, the Facebook account condition is superfluous given the proposed class 9 release, which is limited to injunctive relief claims “related to the operation of the Meta Pixel on 10 any and all webpages on Mindvalley’s Websites.” Ex. A. § 5.2. And, second, because the VPPA 11 discovery rule permits Plaintiffs to seek relief from the start of Mindvalley’s use of the Meta Pixel 12 [18 U.S.C. § 2710(c)(3)], it is appropriate to include previous accountholders within the proposed 13 Settlement Class whose injunctive relief claims can properly be extinguished here in exchange for 14 the proposed stipulated injunctive relief.

15       The second and third topics focus on the differences in the release and the differences in 16 class recovery had Plaintiffs fully prevailed on their claim. The release is narrower than the claims 17 asserted in the FAC because the FAC sought injunctive relief and statutory damages. But the Class 18 is not releasing claims for damages, and thus the release is narrowly tailored to the injunctive relief 19 obtained. The difference here is amply justified.

- 20       • No Rule 23(b)(3) class has been certified, and thus the viability of a damages class 21            remains unknown and subject to risk.
- 22       • Defendant does not have the financial ability to pay a damages judgment nor would 23            any such judgment be readily collectable, as the owners and operators of 24            Mindvalley’s website are based in foreign countries, including in Malaysia.
 25            Dwoskin Decl., ¶ 25.
- 26       • Mindvalley has asserted a consent-defense based on the privacy disclosures on its 27            website, and the viability of that defense has not been tested in this litigation. Id., ¶ 28            22.

- 1     • Mindvalley has asserted that the class-action waiver contained in the terms of use 2         on its platform will defeat any attempted Rule 23(b)(3) certification here, and the 3         viability of that defense has not been tested in this litigation. Id., ¶ 22.
- 4     • Beyond Mindvalley's class-waiver and consent defenses, certifying a damages 5         class under Rule 23(b)(3) is uncertain and presents significant risks, including 6         because of the availability of class-wide data. Mindvalley has represented that it 7         does not believe it has data showing (a) what videos that were requested or watched 8         were transmitted to Meta via the Meta Pixel, or (b) whether, if such a transmission 9         occurred, such data was accompanied with data that identifies the subscriber. Such 10        information, if it exists, would be in the possession of Meta. During the meet-and-11        confer process over the scope of production in response to Plaintiffs' subpoena to 12        Meta, Meta indicated it will refuse to produce class-wide data prior to certification, 13        and that it would only agree to produce an extremely limited sample of data for 14        three days and only up to 300,000 rows of data per day. Plaintiffs and Meta were 15        negotiating the scope of a subpoena at the time this settlement agreement was 16        reached. Dwoskin Decl. ¶ 19. Certification could be impacted by what data Meta 17        ultimately produces (or is compelled to produce, if any) and whether that data can 18        be used to satisfy the requirements of Rule 23. While Plaintiffs believe that Meta's 19        data would help with certification, obtaining data from Meta presents significant 20        litigation risk.
- 21     • Defendant already indicated its plan to file a summary judgment motion, including 22         based on its consent and class-waiver defenses (e.g., ECF 63 at 5).
- 23     • The injunctive relief brings great value to the settlement class now and class 24         members are still able to pursue their monetary claims in full.

25        The fourth topic focuses on the impact on other cases. Plaintiffs are not aware of any other 26        cases impacted by this settlement.

E. Injunctive Relief Demonstrates the Settlement is Fair, Reasonable, and Adequate

Courts within this District grant preliminary approval where the proposed settlement: “(1) appears to be the product of serious, informed, non-collusive negotiations; (2) does not grant improper preferential treatment to class representatives or other segments of the class; (3) falls within the range of possible approval; and (4) has no obvious deficiencies.” Moore, 2024 WL 4868182, at *3 (quoting McDonald v. CP OpCo, LLC, 2019 WL 343470, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 28, 2019) (citing In re Tableware Antitrust Litig., 484 F. Supp. 2d 1078, 1079 (N.D. Cal. 2007); Gatchalian v. Atl. Recovery Solutions., LLC, 2023 WL 8007107, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 16, 2023))).<sup>4</sup>

1. The Settlement Resulted from Serious, Informed, Non-Collusive Arm's Length Negotiations

As an initial matter, the Court does not need to address this factor because this is an injunction-only settlement under Rule 23(b)(2). See Moreno v. San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit Dist., 2019 WL 343472, at *3 n.2 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 28, 2019) (“the Bluetooth collusion analysis does not apply where, as here, the settlement is for injunctive relief purposes only and class members do not release any monetary claims.”) (collecting cases). But Plaintiffs satisfy it anyway.

Courts evaluate whether Class Counsel had sufficient information to make an informed decision about the merits of the case. See In re Mego Fin. Corp. Sec. Litig., 213 F.3d 454, 459 (9th Cir. 2000). This action spanned over a year, which included dispositive motion briefing, the exchange of written discovery, the production and review of documents, third-party discovery from Meta, and consulting expert analysis. Dwoskin Decl. ¶¶ 7-10. Class Counsel have therefore had a meaningful opportunity to consider the Court’s various rulings, take and review discovery, including both party and third-party discovery, and gauge the feasibility and benefits of settlement.

<sup>4</sup> In In re Bluetooth Headset Prod. Liab. Litig., 654 F.3d 935, 946 (9th Cir. 2011), the Ninth Circuit enumerated eight factors for a district court to consider at final approval. Because “the Court cannot fully assess such factors until the final approval hearing, . . . a full fairness analysis is unnecessary” at preliminary approval. Gatchalian, 2023 WL 8007107, at *6–7. That said, the below analysis shows Plaintiffs satisfy the relevant applicable Bluetooth factors anyway.

versus continued litigation. See In re Wireless Facilities, Inc., 253 F.R.D. 607, 610 (S.D. Cal. 2008) (settlements that follow sufficient discovery and genuine arms-length negotiation are presumed fair); White v. Experian Info. Solutions., Inc., 2009 WL 10670553, at *13 (C.D. Cal. May 7, 2009) (same). Furthermore, the Settlement was reached only after the parties participated in multiple mediations and arms-length negotiations over the course of nearly two months. Dwoskin Decl., ¶ 11; see Kline, 2016 WL 6026330, at *5 (“That the settlement was reached with the assistance of an experienced mediator further suggest that the settlement is fair and reasonable.”) (citation omitted).

As a result of the parties’ efforts, the Court’s rulings, and the mediator’s input, the claims have been substantially investigated and are substantially understood so that Class Counsel had a reasonable opportunity to candidly assess the merits and weaknesses of the claims and the defenses. Given the injunctive relief secured, the Settlement provides relief that directly addresses the claims asserted on behalf of the Class. The parties worked closely with Judge James, an experienced and well-respected mediator, who ultimately assisted the parties in reaching a fair and reasonable resolution. See In re Bluetooth Headset Products Liab. Litig., 654 F.3d at 946 (“[The] presence of a neutral mediator [is] a factor weighing in favor of a finding of noncollusiveness.”).

Where, as here, a settlement is negotiated at arms-length by experienced counsel, there is a presumption that it is fair and reasonable. See In re Pac. Enters. Sec. Litig., 47 F.3d 373, 378 (9th Cir. 1995). This factor therefore weighs in favor of approving the Settlement.

2. The Settlement Does Not Provide Preferential Treatment Among Class Members

The Settlement does not provide for monetary relief to class members, and so it lacks the potential for preferential treatment in this regard. Instead, the Settlement mandates changes to the function and design of Mindvalley’s platform that will benefit all Class members the same. See Moore, 2024 WL 4868182, at *3 (“The injunctive relief . . . applies equally to all class members without preferential treatment.”); Hart v. Colvin, 2016 WL 6611002, at *9 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 9, 2016) (“When . . . the settlement provides for only injunctive relief . . . there is no potential for the named plaintiffs to benefit at the expense of the rest of the class”) (quotation and citation omitted).

1 Plaintiffs intend to request $2,500 in statutory damages and an incentive award of $2,500 2 for each Plaintiff. Neither indicates unfair preferential treatment. Statutory damages are 3 appropriate because “unlike the class, the named representatives are waiving their claims for 4 damages.” Campbell v. Facebook Inc., 2017 WL 3581179, at *8 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 18, 2017), aff’d, 5 951 F.3d 1106 (9th Cir. 2020). See also Gatchalian, 2023 WL 8007107, at *8 (no preferential 6 treatment, even though plaintiffs awarded statutory damages). Moreover, the “Ninth Circuit has 7 recognized that service awards to named plaintiffs in a class action are permissible and do not 8 render a settlement unfair or unreasonable.” Harris v. Vector Mktg. Corp., 2011 WL 1627973, at 9 *9 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 29, 2011) (citing Stanton v. Boeing Co., 327 F.3d 938, 977 (9th Cir. 2003)); 10 see also Campbell, 2017 WL 3581179, at *4 (“Incentive payments to class representatives do not, 11 by themselves, create an impermissible conflict between class members and their 12 representatives.”) (quoting In re Online DVD-Rental Antitrust Litig., 779 F.3d 934, 943 (9th Cir.
 13 2015)).

14 As discussed above, Plaintiffs cooperated with Class Counsel throughout the litigation, 15 including in responding to voluminous discovery requests, and were otherwise in regular contact 16 with Class Counsel. The injunctive relief secured for the Class reflects significant efforts, and the 17 requested incentive award, if approved, is commensurate with those efforts. See, e.g., Moreno, 18 2019 WL 343472, at *7 (“In this district, a $5,000 payment is presumptively reasonable.”). The 19 absence of any unfair preferential treatment further supports granting preliminary approval of the 20 Settlement.

21 3. The Settlement Falls Within the Range of Possible Approval

22 “To determine whether a settlement ‘falls within the range of possible approval,’ a court 23 must focus on ‘substantive fairness and adequacy,’ and ‘consider plaintiffs’ expected recovery 24 balanced against the value of the settlement offer.’” Villegas v. J.P. Morgan Chase & Co., 2012 25 WL 5878390, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 21, 2012) (citing In re Tableware, 484 F. Supp. 2d at 1080).
 26 Here, the injunctive relief Plaintiffs secured directly addresses the claims in a fair and reasonable 27 manner. Plaintiffs allege that Defendant violated the VPPA by disclosing their video-viewing 28 history to Meta via the Meta Pixel. The injunctive relief addresses these allegedly unlawful

1 practices and prevents Defendant from engaging in similar conduct for a period of two years, while 2 also preserving the Class's right to seek monetary legal recourse. See Grant v. Capital
 3 Management Servs., L.P., 2014 WL 888665, at *4 (S.D. Cal. Mar. 5, 2014) (approving settlement 4 that "stops the allegedly unlawful practices, bars Defendant from similar practices in the future, 5 and does not prevent class members from seeking [monetary] legal recourse."); Moore, 2024 WL 6 4868182, at *4 ("Courts have approved similar settlements providing solely injunctive relief in 7 consumer class actions, particularly where such relief offers direct benefits in curbing allegedly 8 unlawful practices").

9 Moreover, the parties achieved the agreed-upon relief, which was the result of extensive 10 litigation and discovery, through arms-length negotiations with Judge James's assistance. These 11 efforts led to an injunction providing relief to Plaintiffs and the Class by directly addressing the 12 core claims of VPPA violations and preventing Defendant from continuing the challenged 13 practices for a period of two years. See Dennis v. Kellogg Co., 2013 WL 1883071, at *5 (S.D. Cal.
 14 May 3, 2013) ("[P]roposed settlement appears to fall within the range of possible approval" where 15 "it appears to be the product of arms-length negotiations by experienced counsel, was reached after 16 considerable litigation and discovery into the asserted claims, and provides . . . relief"). While this 17 relief does not include monetary compensation, it preserves the Class's right to seek damages in 18 future claims. Given the absence of a certified Rule 23(b)(3) class, the challenges of obtaining data 19 from Meta, Defendant's stated intention to file a motion for summary judgment, the ongoing nature 20 of the violations, and the practical realities of litigating against a small Malaysia-based defendant 21 that lacks the financial ability to satisfy a potential class-wide damages judgment, the Settlement 22 offers a reasonable resolution in light of the challenges and risks of further litigation.

23 Courts have approved similar settlements, particularly where injunctive relief offers direct 24 benefits in curbing allegedly unlawful practices. See, e.g., In re Ferrero Litig., 2012 WL 2802051, 25 at *4 (S.D. Cal. July 9, 2012), aff'd, 583 F. App'x 665 (9th Cir. 2014) ("Defendant agreed to 26 modify the product label to address the fundamental claim raised in Plaintiffs' complaint . . . The 27 Court concludes that the proposed settlement provides an appropriate remedy to class members. It 28 both takes into account the strength of Defendant's defenses and obstacles to class-wide recovery,

1 while also addressing the concerns in Plaintiff's complaint"); see also Carr v. Tadin, Inc., 2014 2 WL 7497152, at *7 (S.D. Cal. Apr. 18, 2014), amended in part, 2014 WL 7499453 (S.D. Cal. May 3 2, 2014) (granting approval of settlement with no monetary relief, but where "the injunctive relief 4 offered will provide the Settlement Class with the relief they most desire—a change in product 5 labeling."); Johnson v. Triple Leaf Tea Inc., 2015 WL 8943150, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 16, 2015) 6 (granting final approval, noting "[t]he Settlement affords meaningful injunctive relief" where "the 7 labeling of the Products shall be substantially revised"); Bronson v. Samsung Elecs. Am., Inc., 8 2020 WL 1503662, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 30, 2020) (finding that, in light of the risks of continued 9 litigation, "the settlement provides sufficient relief to the class" even though "class counsel chose 10 to abandon certification of a damages class under Rule 23(b)(3) in favor of an injunctive-only class 11 under Rule 23(b)(2)"); Kurowski v. Rush System for Health, 683 F.Supp.3d 836 (N.D. Ill., 2023), 12 (Order Granting Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement) (N.D. Ill. Oct. 4, 2024), ECF 13 152 (recent order granting preliminary approval for a similar injunctive relief-only settlement in 14 the context of online tracking technologies).

15       4. The Settlement Has No Deficiencies

16       A court is likely to find a settlement agreement free from obvious deficiencies when it 17 provides immediate injunctive relief while at the same time mitigates the potential uncertainties in 18 continuing litigation. See Stathakos, 2018 WL 582564, at *5 (approving settlement where 19 "continued litigation could not result in any greater injunctive relief to the class and would only 20 deprive the class of immediate relief"); In re Tableware, 484 F. Supp. 2d at 1080 ("Based on th[e] 21 risk and the anticipated expense and complexity of further litigation, the court cannot say that the 22 proposed settlement is obviously deficient"). Here, the injunctive relief provided for in the 23 Settlement reflects a favorable resolution.

24       Under the Settlement terms, Defendant will remove the Meta Pixel from Mindvalley's 25 logged-in website, and disable the same technology on the logged-out website unless and until a 26 user affirmatively consents to its use through VPPA-compliant consent banner. Ex. A § 2.1. This 27 relief is consistent with the purpose of the certified Rule 23(b)(2) class, and the changes to the 28 website function and design directly address Plaintiffs' allegations that Mindvalley was violating

1 the VPPA through its unauthorized use of the Meta Pixel. Because the injunctive relief fully 2 addresses these core claims, the Settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate, and strongly supports 3 preliminary approval. See Lilly v. Jamba Juice Co., 2015 WL 2062858, at *7 (N.D. Cal. May 4, 4 2015) (approving a settlement providing solely injunctive relief where only Rule 23(b)(2) class 5 was certified); Goldkorn v. Cnty of San Bernardino, 2012 WL 476279, at *6-7 (C.D. Cal. Feb. 13, 6 2012) (approving settlement providing solely injunctive relief, attorneys' fees, costs, and damages 7 to named plaintiffs); Kim, 2012 WL 5948951, at *10 (same). Crucially, the release is limited to 8 the injunctive relief specified in the Settlement and specifically carves out any request for monetary 9 relief. The Settlement therefore has no “obvious substantive defects such as . . . overly broad 10 releases of liability.” Newberg on Class Actions § 13:15 (5th ed. 2014). The absence of any 11 deficiencies supports preliminary approval.

12 5. Plaintiffs’ Decision to Prioritize Injunctive Relief Over Uncertain Damages Is 13 Justified

14 Plaintiffs’ decision to settle this case by securing injunctive relief under Rule 23(b)(2), 15 rather than continuing to pursue class-wide damages, was a strategic choice based on a 16 comprehensive assessment of the litigation risks, the collectability of Defendant, and the important 17 need to secure certain, near-term relief for the Class in light of the ongoing VPPA violations.
 18 Dwoskin Decl. ¶¶ 21-25. While Plaintiffs are confident in their ability to prove the violations at 19 issue, it is highly unlikely that a class-wide damages judgment would ultimately be collectible. Id.
 20 Indeed, as part of the proposed settlement, Plaintiffs’ counsel agreed to an 8-month payment plan 21 for any approved fee award because of Mindvalley’s stated inability to pay even several hundred 22 thousand dollars (i.e., a tiny fraction of a potential damages judgment) in the near term. Dwoskin 23 Decl. ¶¶ 23-25. See also Ex. A, § 6.3

24 Moreover, pursuing damages would have required protracted litigation, over the course of 25 several years, with significant costs relative to the limited relief the Class might ultimately obtain, 26 all while the VPPA violations at issue continued to occur on Mindvalley’s websites. As noted 27 above, Mindvalley is essentially a wellness platform that offers courses on individual mental health 28 and personal and professional development. Given the private and sensitive nature of the video

1 content on the platform, Mindvalley’s ongoing use of the technology at issue (and, thus, ongoing 2 disclosure of its users’ video request and viewing histories to Meta), and the unlikelihood that 3 Mindvalley would be able to later satisfy any damages judgment after several additional years of 4 litigation, it was critically important to pivot to obtaining immediate injunctive relief for the class 5 that included disabling the technology at issue in the manner described in the settlement agreement.
 6 For those reasons, immediate injunctive relief is a reasonable and effective way to guarantee relief 7 for the Class. Id.

8 Finally, recovery of damages is uncertain and expensive. The risks of continuing litigation 9 were significant, including the potential for Defendant to prevail on summary judgment on its 10 consent-defense or to defeat class certification based on the putative class-action waiver contained 11 in its website terms and conditions. Plaintiffs are not blind to these risks. And, were Plaintiffs 12 ultimately able to overcome these hurdles, the lengthy process of trial, potential appeals, and 13 motions for reconsideration would consume significant time and resources, all while the VPPA 14 violations continued on Mindvalley’s website. See Kline, 2016 WL 6026330, at *5 (“[W]hile 15 confident in the merits of their case, Plaintiffs are cognizant of the inherent risks of lengthy 16 litigation . . . The proposed settlement adequately accounts for these risks”).

17 In contrast, the Settlement ensures nationwide injunctive relief that addresses the core issue 18 in this litigation—VPPA violations via the Meta Pixel—while preserving the Class’s right to 19 pursue individual damages claims if they choose. The value of guaranteed injunctive relief now as 20 compared to the uncertain promise of any future recovery after protracted and unpredictable 21 litigation further supports approval. See Nat’l Rural Telecommunications Coop. v. DIRECTV, Inc., 22 221 F.R.D. 523, 526 (C.D. Cal. 2004) (“The Court shall consider the vagaries of litigation and 23 compare the significance of immediate recovery by way of the compromise to the mere possibility 24 of relief in the future, after protracted and expensive litigation. In this respect, “It has been held 25 proper to take the bird in hand instead of a prospective flock in the bush.”) (citations omitted); 26 Stathakos, 2018 WL 582564, at *4 (discussing how injunctive relief provides certain relief to the 27 class that would not be guaranteed if litigation continued); Rieckborn v. Velti PLC, 2015 WL 28 468329, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 3, 2015) (finding that the guarantee of a certain recovery “outweighs

1 the uncertainties of pursuing a possibly more favorable outcome by continuing to litigate");
 2 Gatchalian v. Atl. Recovery Solutions., LLC, 2024 WL 2112862, at *5 (N.D. Cal. May 9, 2024)
 3 ("Given the risks posed by continuing to litigate Plaintiff's claims, the certainty of [] recovery 4 under the settlement weighs in favor of granting final approval."). Consequently, despite the lack 5 of monetary relief, the balance of risks, expenses, and the unpredictability of trial outcomes 6 strongly favors preliminary approval of the Settlement.

7 VI. CONCLUSION

8 For the reasons set forth in this motion, Plaintiffs respectfully request the Court 9 preliminarily approve the Settlement and find, consistent with the numerous cases cited herein, 10 that class notice is not required. If the Court grants preliminary approval, Plaintiffs further request 11 the Court schedule a final approval hearing to determine whether the Court should grant final 12 approval of the Settlement and to determine the appropriateness of Plaintiffs' attorneys' fees and 13 costs as well as the incentive payment to Plaintiffs. Plaintiffs also ask the Court to set the date by 14 which Class Counsel must file all papers in support of the final approval of the Settlement, request 15 for incentive award, and application for attorneys' fees and costs as no later than 45 days prior to 16 the final approval hearing. Plaintiffs also ask the Court to set the date by which Class Members 17 may file objections, together with any briefs, papers, statements, or other materials the Class 18 Member or other person wishes the Court to consider, within sixty (60) calendar days following 19 the Preliminary Approval Date.
